

SEASON FOUR

Have you ever felt strangely empty inside after watching an exciting installment of Fox's smash reality TV hit American Idol? Have you ever thought, "Kelly Clarkson and Ruben Studdard are true American heroes, and I am impressed by the assload of talent they possess, but couldn't a premier content provider like Fox give me more? If only Fox gave me a winner I could prostrate myself in front of, thereby gaining spiritual fulfillment and everlasting life!"

Well, Fox marketing execs have heard your pleas and deigned to grant them! Imagine a world where your new sovereign deity and supreme ruler of the universe were determined by a nail-bitingly competitive reality TV tournament. After long negotiations with current-deity and huge-Fox-fan God, that's just what we've managed to create! Prepare yourself for the all-new season of American Idol.

Now you can really idolize the winner of your favorite reality TV show. In order to win omniscience, omnipotence, and absolute control over the salvation of man, the winning deity will have to convince American Idol's tough team of judges that it's got the most talent, the sexiest moves, and the supernatural flash to be the hot new god that will command your worship. And don't expect that British guy not to be a complete dick just because he could be cast into a lake of everlasting fire by the disgruntled winner! Joining the unflinchingly assholish Simon will be revered spiritual leader Pope John Paul II as well as TV funnywoman Kathy Griffin. Hellfire will fly and plagues will ravage the earth as contestants react to the judges' quirky criticism!

Fox has already announced the show's taping to deities in all seven celestial spheres. You'll see old favorites like the slightly-overweight-but-still-sexy-as-hell Buddha, that thing from The Mummy, and Pan, the goat god, as well as some newer contenders like L. Ron Hubbard, David Koresh, and Jerry Falwell. These gods will face off in such categories as good looks, vocal ability, and wrath. The new Lord and Heavenly Father will be determined by you, the viewers in an exciting prime-time special only on Fox. Make sure to vote, since this might be your last chance ever to exercise your free will!

Those who don't submit to the idle whims of the winning deity will, of course, be damned to an eternity of indescribable pain! So make sure to watch—if you care about the fate of the universe and your own immortal soul! For Fox so loved the world, that it gave its only begotten Content, that whosoever watcheth it should not get bored, but have everlasting entertainment.

Fox Mondays at 9/8 central, right after My Big Fat Obnoxious Fiancé!
