

How to Die Without Dignity

Many of us hope that the way we die reflects some small part of the way we lived. It is therefore vital for each of us to discuss our end-of-life preferences with our loved ones before it is too late. The Yale Record has prepared the following guide to help deal with this difficult topic.

- ☠ Playing a game of Russian Solitaire
- ☠ Making good on threat to hold breath forever unless mom and dad buy a pony
- ☠ Taking a bullet for the President of the National Rifle Association
- ☠ Overdosing on Flintstones vitamins
- ☠ Severing spinal cord while attempting to use Women's Table as slip-and-slide
- ☠ Participating in reality television show "Temptation Coffin"
- ☠ Allowing self to be surrounded in combat by French army
- ☠ Staging hunger strike for GESO
- ☠ Attempting, however nobly, do-it-yourself appendectomy
- ☠ Being trapped in burning Commons trying to rescue every copy of Yale Daily News
- ☠ Drunk-dialing Jack Kevorkian
- ☠ Becoming casualty in U.S. government's "war on illiteracy"
- ☠ Bragging to freshman orgo classmates about grade of A++ on midterm
- ☠ Mixing business with pleasure, strychnine
- ☠ Running dry while trying to set Guinness record for world's largest blood donation
- ☠ Tying self to railroad tracks to attract masked hero
- ☠ Jumping off top of Harkness Tower to spite Yale Anti-Gravity Society
- ☠ Failing to withstand brutal Phi Beta Kappa hazing
- ☠ Undergoing week-long chest X-ray in attempt to gain mutant superpowers ☹
