

Diary Of A Celebrity Stalker

March 12

I wonder, if LeVar Burton were made of medicine, what kind of medicine would he be?

If I were to swallow him in pill form, would it ease the ache deep within my soul? What if I were to stab a needle through my veins and receive him intravenously? Would I find peace at last?

April 23

The landlady said today I had to stop stealing flowers from the plants outside. Doesn't she understand how many crocuses it takes to press the dyes to properly color the fabric to make a yellow engineering tonic just like LeVar Burton wore during his years on Star Trek: Enterprise? I mean, is this some kind of joke? I didn't know what to say when she started to yell at me, but then I remembered what LeVar Burton's voice-over character Kwami said on Captain Planet: "The Power Is Yours!" So I pretended to put the flowers back, but really I put them in my pouch. She'll never find them. But LeVar Burton will know.

October 27

Do his nipples ever become erect?
Sometimes, in the freezer section of Costco, my nipples become erect.
Do his nipples ever become erect?

February 3

Today I got an email from LeVar Burton's mother. She finally wrote back! She said she didn't have time to write as much as I did, and that most of the answers to my questions could be found on LeVarBurton.com. I guess she doesn't know that LeVarBurton.com is my website, and that I emailed her personally because I wanted to get the real answers from his family. I mean, I know LeVar Burton loves animals, but does he go to the zoo? Has he ever observed animals while in the nude? If he could be any animal, would it be a toucan? If I found a way to turn him into a toucan, could I sleep on his couch for a month?

At last! A LeVar Burton Q-Tip!

June 19

Today LeVar Burton came over. Okay, he didn't really come over. But I did watch Roots twelve times in a row starting last Thursday, so it feels like he's really here. The phone rang and I answered it, but it wasn't LeVar Burton. It was somebody from the Church of Latter-day Saints. I didn't know what to say, so I asked myself, what would LeVar Burton say? I told them there was a hull breach on deck nine.

December 8

If I ever saw LeVar Burton, I would ask him "What did the soldiers eat during the Civil War?" and he would say "I give up," and I would say "Spaghettysburg!"

Would his laughter sound like music?

October 9

Today I read a book. I know LeVar Burton likes books because he was the star of Reading Rainbow. What I don't know is whether the "Rainbow" reference has anything to do with his sexuality. "You don't have to take my word for it", is that a hidden message? I want so very badly for him to like me, but I could respect his decision if he wasn't interested. It's like in that book, Heather Has Two Daddies, that guest star Brian Dennehy read to me on Episode 53 (April 22, 1987 XXX). LeVar Burton was wearing a blue sweater in that episode. I have a blue sweater.

Yes! I found a rabbit skull that LeVar Burton once picked up, and then dropped in disgust

March 21

Today the nice man at the grocery store asked me what was wrong with my face. I told him "nothing is wrong with my face." I suppose he was referring to the tattoo designed to look just like the VISOR LeVar Burton wore when he portrayed Lieutenant Commander Geordi La Forge on Star Trek: The Next Generation. On the show, LeVar Burton wore it to rectify his crippling blindness, but sometimes I forget that LeVar Burton is not really blind, and that neither am I. Ray Charles was blind.

My mother told me not to get my tattoo, but she also told me not to dig a hole and stand in it, crying. I love my tattoo. I know it is the best thing about my face. I think LeVar Burton's mother would know so, too

